Tough people, tough times

The goings on in the country as well as across the world are marked by tough times to different degrees of dealing with them. The inter-country scenario is currently witnessing the top brass of one country challenging its counterpart in another country in respect of economic superiority as well as military might, drawing themselves to the doorsteps of starting wars. Mercifully, their war of words ceases for a while raising hopes of planet earth hosting people pursuing their activities in peace for a little while more. However, the middle east region is proving tough to the innocent and helpless citizens, getting battered, bruised and killed with no signs of the warring sides brokering happy days for all in the region. The intra-country scenario in different parts of the world, particularly across India, is marked by disenchantment for different sections of society for reasons as clear as daylight.

Clarion calls given by many public speakers, with the best of intent, to achieve an inclusive society have mostly remained platitudes even as the numbers of both haves and have-nots are rising resulting in a society that is anything but inclusive. That is the beginning of the story of the nation's people facing tough times seeing some managing to stay afloat and the rest sinking.

The classical definition of democracy highlighting primacy of people has virtually been diluted, given the current disconnect between the ruling class and the citizens, different sections of whom are coming into the open to express their plight on many counts, particularly unemployment, corrupt administration, elected representatives of people showing no concern for people's welfare, dealing with anti-society criminals with kid gloves as it were, apathetic staff in government departments giving tough times to citizens.

The foregoing narrative should not overshadow the resilience of the nation's people in general and their track record in particular keeping the wheels of industry well-oiled and fields raising food crops towards mitigating the effects of tough times the nation's people are facing. We owe a deep debt of gratitude to the voluntary groups, including many in Mysuru, as living examples of tough people not wilting in tough times.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

For Indians who travel to foreign parts – for business, or for study, or just for the heck of it – a 'foreign-returned' tag was considered a social cachet and something to boast about. And you didn't have to be foreign-returned yourself. It was enough if an uncle, or a cousin, or anyone within the extended family circle had this qualification for you to take vicarious pride in. Since then, globalisation and relaxation of foreign exchange rules have turned foreign into familiar, at least for that growing segment called middle-class India. Your local kirana shop is likely to be full of everything videshi, from Malaysian biscuits to Australian fruit juices, and never mind the carbon footprints left behind. And it's often cheaper to fly from Delhi to Bangkok than to Bengaluru, to Kazakhstan than to Kochi. In the process, foreign has lost the romance of distance, making the world flatter and less exciting, with the exotic within too easy a reach. — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

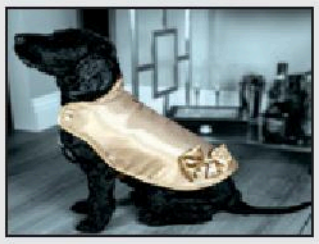
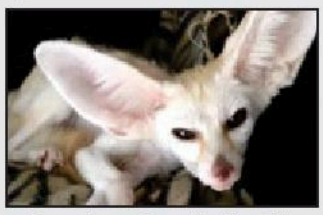
Dog Jacket made up of 24K gold



London: How much do you really love your pet dog? Enough to buy it the world's first 24K gold jacket encrusted with Swarovski crystals and black diamonds? It's "only" 137,000 and it's armoured, meaning it will protect your pooch from bites and even knife slashes.

The world's most expensive dog jacket is the result of a collaboration between Doggy Armour and VeryFirstTo, the same company that brought us the ultimate holiday for James Bond fans and the world's most luxurious colouring book. The lavish canine garment is made of "Golden Textile" 24K gold Nano coated fabrics, which apparently "has the authentic values of gold itself and embraces 99.99% gold that is nono-structured." Clients also have the option to have the jacket decorated with either 20 Swarovski crystals, or 20 black diamonds.

Vegan diet for pet fennec fox!



Barcelona: Spanish YouTuber Sonia Sae, who uses her channel to share advice on how to live on a plant-based diet, has come under fire for putting her pet fennec fox on a vegan diet, after photos of the shockingly thin animal were shared online.

Animal activists and some of Sonia Sae's own followers have accused her of animal cruelty after the youtuber admitted that she has been raising Jumanji, her pet fennec fox, on a vegan diet, since 2014. Photos of the seemingly-malnourished fox have been circulating online. A petition demanding that the youtuber either feed Jumanji a "proper" diet or hand him over to a sanctuary that can meet its complex needs. "Sonia has refused to listen to experts who are all appalled at her treatment of Jumanji," Facebook user Alice Natanya Moore wrote in a post that has been shared over 28,000 times. After Moore's post went viral on social media, Sonia Sae was bombarded with comments from people asking her to put Jumanji on a proper diet, but she pushed back against the criticism and she said that Jumanji gets "all the needed amino acids for a carnivore animal such as taurine and lysine."

Really...?

- Mahabharata mentions the concept of Cloning, Test Tube Babies, and Surrogate Mothers. The fact that in the Mahabharata, Gandhari had 100 sons is pretty well-known. But what's unknown is the scientific explanation behind her giving birth to a 100 kids. Each 'Kaurava' was created by splitting the single embryo into 100 parts and growing each part in a separate kund (container). This is identical to the cloning process today.

Hinkal Kalyani Land Row

Irate villagers stage night-long dharna

COURT ORDER
HON'BLE III ADDITIONAL I CIVIL JUDGE (Jr.Dn.) & JMFC MYSURU
O.S.No.1407 / 2015
ORDER DATE: 8th JANUARY 2018
TRESPASSERS WILL BE PROCECUTED

Villagers staging a dharna near the Kalyani (pond) in Hinkal this morning protesting against the temporary fencing of the Kalyani and land around it with a giant board that displayed the Court order saying that trespassers will be prosecuted (picture right).

- Move to fence the land by educational institutions meets stiff opposition
- District Minister sends Personal Secretary to collect information

Mysuru, Mar. 16 (RK,YDS& BCT)- The issue of Hinkal Nanneshwara Temple Kalyani and the land surrounding it which has been allotted to some private educational institutions despite opposition by Hinkal villagers, has snowballed into a major controversy.

Today, District In-charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa intervened in the issue and sent his Personal Secretary Shobha to Hinkal to collect information about the controversy and asked her to speak to the villagers who are staging overnight protests.

Yesterday, braving rains, hundreds of villagers from Hinkal and surrounding areas staged a protest near the Kalyani demanding the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) and the District Administration to take back the land that has been allotted to some private institutions. What enraged the villagers was the move of an educational institution that went ahead and set up temporary fencing at the disputed area.

(See HINKAL on page 9)

Hinkal Prakash, one of the protestors, alleged that "in 2011-2012, the land (CA site 28, 29, 37 and 38) was sanctioned to the educational institutions by the then Karnataka CM D.V. Sadananda Gowda when BJP leader G. Madhusudhan was a MUDA member. These educational institutions claim that they are running classes here. But in reality, there are no academic activities here and the Court has been misled."

VOICE OF THE READER

In appreciation of book on 'SOM'

Sir,

The book, Star of Mysore — Story of a unique evening english newspaper, sent to me with KBG's signature is a book I treasure. I convey my deep appreciation of the book which I completed reading in one sitting.

The saga of KBG's struggle to remain afloat for 40 years in an extremely competitive journalism and make a success of it despite tremendous odds is something at once fascinating and daunting.

At the same time it is a tribute of triumph of human spirit to persevere and endure that kept my attention unflagged till I completed reading the book. What has embellished was KBG's unique journalistic style, a mixture of simplicity, directness, honesty and frankness that is at once endearing and captivating.

Needles to say the photographs as always a silent witness to KBG's journey of forty years has made the book attractive.

In the Epilogue he has rightly referred to the advice of Ferdinand Megallan, Portuguese explorer: "The sea is dangerous and its storm terrible and these obstacles have never been sufficient reason to remain ashore."

This brings to my mind the saga of Madhu Nagaraj, a gentle and shy neighbourhood boy who had his baptism in swimming in our Saraswathipuram Swimming Pool and has now become the toast of the world in extreme sports in open water swimming and his acme of achievement was swimming in Megallan Straits during November 2017 under subzero condition, unknown danger from aquatic creatures and with giant waves and wind speed of 180 knots. When he completed he lost consciousness and had to be revived.

The other attractive feature is KBG's Abracadabra. Again I can compare to what the infinity man Ramanujan says about his fascination for Mathematics:

"An equation for me has no meaning, unless it expresses a thought of God."

Similarly, Star of Mysore without Abracadabra is unthinkable.

A DC and a Dog with a Difference!

Buddy

Buddy's four pups

Star of Mysore had published a report recently that Randeep, our former DC, who has now been transferred to Hassan, has an unusual love for dogs which is shared by his wife Arpitha too. Many people love to have dogs as pets and they love them very dearly too. But what is unusual here is that while most dog-lovers prefer to have dogs of the best breeds and also of the best lineage, this couple have been showering their love on ordinary street dogs. This love has been so intense and enduring that when they arrived in Mysuru they brought their lowly pets here all the way from Vijayapura and are now taking them along with their other belongings to Hassan!

I do not belong to a family of traditional dog-keepers but I can very well understand Randeep's attachment to his pets after a street puppy decided to adopt our family as its own about four years ago. Yes, while it is people who adopt pets it was the other way round in our case. This tiny female puppy, which one cold Christmas night decided to materialise from nowhere and take shelter under my car, turned out to be a real stubborn limpet. Firstly, we as a family did not have the heart to turn it away in the middle of the cold night and secondly my children's hearts melted with its mournful moaning when hungry and the glee with which it licked its lips after lapping up the milk offered by my wife!

But I put on my most stern countenance and announced that we would be turning it away without any second thoughts the next morning. But when morning came we found to our dismay that no amount of persuasion or coaxing could succeed in getting this uninvited guest to stay out of our compound. Not even the stout stick that we threatened it with from close quarters could deter its resolve to stay put alongside us as a walk-in and self-professed member of our household.

On the contrary, it perhaps mistook this persistent exercise as an exhibition of our great love and affection and decided that ours was the right family to call its own! So at a hastily convened family meeting later that afternoon it was decided that we would allow it to stay for just a wee bit longer till we could find some friend willing to adopt it or find it a home. But until that could happen the little fellow needed a name with which it could be formally addressed and so it was christened 'Buddy' by my daughter Sarah which seemed appropriate enough considering the age-old and perhaps prehistoric association that has existed between dog and man.

When our perhaps not-so-determined efforts to find it a more willing home did not seem to bear fruit, we all felt that the least we could do to ensure its good health was to get it immunised. So a house visit was arranged for a reputable vet to come and do the honours. He was more than a little surprised when he discovered that the patient for which he was being paid to make a house call was only a street pup which we had no intentions of keeping for long. But he decided that there should be a proper record of all immunisations at least for the family that would eventually adopt it in future and so he promptly issued a booklet which looked very much like a passport! Even though armed with this passport, we still could not find any takers for our guest which seemed to be clearly overstaying its welcome.

By this time, both my son and daughter seemed to show signs of developing a love affair with the little fellow which seemed to have very correctly surmised that a guest that wants to overstay its welcome should keep its hosts properly entertained. This it seemed to be doing very effectively going by the fact that both my children now started rushing to the back door calling out for Buddy the moment they entered the front door whenever they came home every evening.

After some time this effort was no longer necessary as Buddy itself started rushing to the gate to receive them with excited prancing and a vigorous wagging of its tail. That was when I realised that Buddy had found itself a permanent home and I therefore decided that it was time for me to summon a mason and build it a kennel! That was the end of the story of trying to find a willing family for Buddy and the beginning of a new story of its lasting relationship with our own!

It came as an unexpected Christmas gift and will be celebrating its fifth Christmas with us this December! In these intervening four years it littered once giving us four adorable pups. The two male ones were named Webly and Scott by my son, Adnan after his revolver of world famous lineage and my daughter not to be outdone, named the two female ones as Beretta and Diana, the two other equally famous guns in our household! History is most well-known to repeat itself and it has done so here too. Despite many reassurances from friends, acquaintances and friendly neighbours we have not been able to find any takers for these four little scoundrels despite their fancy names and they now prance and play to their hearts' content all over their present home in our coffee estate without the slightest fear of being sent somewhere far away from us!

Prof. Rangappa elected Indian Science Congress President

Prof. K.S. Rangappa

Mysuru, Mar.16 (NNN)- Former Vice-Chancellor of University of Mysore and Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) and Scientist Prof. K.S. Rangappa has been elected as President of the Indian Science Congress (ISC) for the year 2019 with a thumping majority.

His selection was announced at the General Body Meeting of the Indian Science Congress held at Manipur's capital Imphal yesterday (Mar.15). The election to the post of President of ISC which has an all India membership was held three months ago.

The counting of votes was held yesterday and out of the 59 votes, two votes were invalid and the remaining 57 had all voted for Prof. Rangappa. With this he has bagged cent per votes creating a historic victory.

The earlier Presidents from Karnataka included luminaries like Prof. U.R. Rao, Prof. Kasturi Rangan and Bharat Ratna Prof. C.N.R. Rao and now to this league belongs Prof. Rangappa, thus bringing glory to the State.

Today he has shared the dais with Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the 105th Indian Science Congress being held in Imphal. He is also likely to share the dais in the 2019 and 2020 ISC in which the Prime Minister will participate.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Prof. Rangappa said, "As a Kannadiga it has brought me immense joy that I have been elected President of ISC. I am thankful to all the scientists who have reposed faith in me and elected me."

It may be recalled that when Prof. Rangappa was the Vice-Chancellor, he successfully conducted the 103rd Indian Science Congress in 2016 as part of the Centenary Celebrations of University of Mysore.

Randeep was transferred to hide electoral list manipulation: Ramdas

Ramdas

Randeep

Mysuru, Mar. 16- Former Minister and BJP leader S.A. Ramdas yesterday alleged that the State Government had deliberately transferred Mysuru's previous Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep to Hassan.

At a press conference, Ramdas said that Randeep was transferred as he was probing the alleged irregularities in the voters' list of Krishnaraja Assembly segment. "Randeep's transfer has given rise to many doubts in the mind of the common man and the government feared that if the officer was not transferred, many irregularities including manipulation of voters list would come to light," he alleged.

It may be mentioned that Ramdas had recently alleged that the State Government was misusing the powers to delete the names from the voters' list by giving false information that the voters had expired or relocated to other places.

Ramdas said, "The Zonal Assistant Commissioner refused to accept the complaint when I approached him complaining about the irregularities. However, the DC considered the matter seriously and started a probe, but, the government transferred him," he alleged.

"More than 11,000 names were deleted from the Krishnaraja Assembly constituency and many Congress workers were involved in mass inclusion of names in the voters list so that it could favour Congress in the forthcoming elections," he said.

Chief Minister Siddharamaiah is not allowing the officials to work independently and the officers are in constant fear. The senior officers in the State have also been alleging harassment from the government, he said. Ramdas also warned of a legal battle if the authorities fail to take action against the people, who had deleted the names of voters illegally.

Roundworms cause for Pelican deaths in Kokkare Bellur

Bharathinagar, Mar.16- The cause of death of pelicans at Kokkare Bellur some time back, is due to roundworms, it is learnt.

On Dec.5 last year, 43 pelicans were found dead and it is confirmed now from the laboratory test reports that they all died due to roundworms and to confirm this report, the roundworms were also found in the fish consumed by the pelican.

A pelican was found lying ill on the ground in the Government Higher Primary School in Kokkare Bellur.

Immediately Ningegowda, President of Hejjarle Balaga, reached the spot.

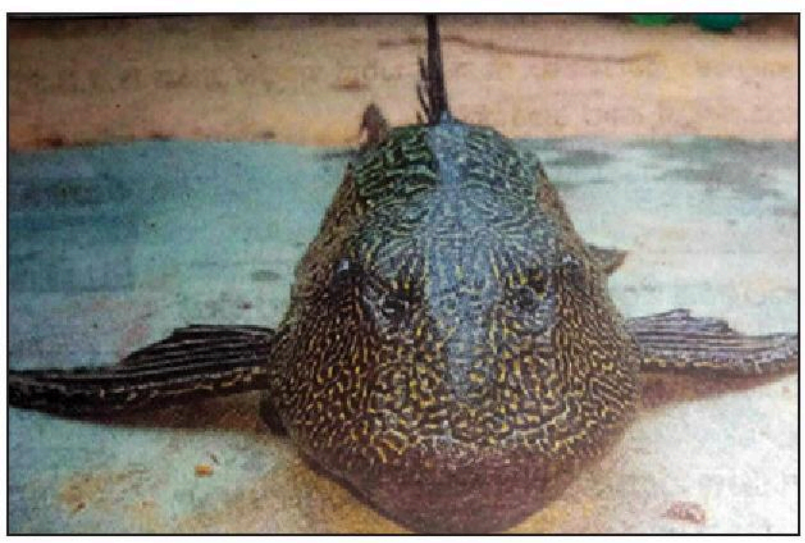
The pelican has vomited the one-and-half kg fish it had consumed. When that fish was dissected, roundworms were found in its stomach.

It is suspected that the pelican might have vomited because of the roundworms in the fish.

This shows from where the roundworms entered pelicans, said Veterinary Department Director Dr. L. Prakash.

He further said that the matter has been brought to the notice of Veterinary Officer Dr. Satish and Deputy Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) V. Yedukondalu.

Man nets rare fish at Madduramma Lake



Maddur, Mar. 16 (NG&KS)- A man, who was fishing at Madduramma Lake at Deshahalli in the taluk yesterday, was in for a surprise when he caught a rare fish weighing about one kilogram in his net.

The man, identified as Nagaraja Naik, a fisherman from Deshahalli was fishing in the lake and had cast his nets in the lake. When he hauled up the nets, he found the rare brown coloured fish with yellow stripes and the mouth resembling that of a whale with thorn like structures on the top. As the fish was alive even after Nagaraja hauled up the nets and kept it out, he released the fish into the well of farmer Shailendra.

Rains in Gundlupet, Bandipur

Gundlupet, Mar.16 (Som.G)- There was welcome showers in Bandipur and other places bordering the forest yesterday, thus bringing slight relief to the people and animals. It has rained in several places including Bandipur, Gopalaswamy Betta, Devarahalli, Kadligowdanahalli and Gopalapura villages.

As it has rained in Bandipur, the forest staff have heaved a sigh of relief because the rain could put down the forest fire incidents that would have resulted in loss to flora and fauna. The deers, bisons and other animals were seen standing drenched in the rain as unlike humans they do not run for cover. If it rains for a few more hours in the next one week, streams may flow in the forest, said DCF Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary P. Ramesh Kumar.

DRIZZLE KEEPS CITY COOL

Mysuru experienced a slight drizzle last evening, forcing people to open their umbrellas or run for cover. The welcome showers brought down the temperature considerably as cool breeze blew. This is due to the cyclonic storm in Sri Lanka which had an impact on neighbouring Kerala. This resulted in rains in Bengaluru, Kodagu, Dakshina Kannada and other places.

Hinkal villagers stage dharna

Though the villagers have been protesting since the last three years, this year it was second such mass protest held yesterday. On Mar. 6 too, the villagers had blocked the Hunsur Main Road demanding that the land be handed over to the village as the area is the only public place for them. Terming the land allotment as 'faulty' and done after 'ignoring the interests of the villagers', the protesters said that they would not let go of the land at any cost.

The protesters also objected to the fencing, preventing the free movement of villagers that too when festivals are approaching. One of the educational institutions had erected a giant board that displayed the Court order. "We were planning to hold a major festival here on the occasion of Ugadi. Now we are being prevented from doing so," villagers said.

The villagers continued the protest overnight and MLA G.T. Devegowda and Zilla Panchayat Member Rakesh Papanna reached the venue and assured the protesters that the issue will be solved and they would discuss the same with MUDA officials. This morning too, villagers protested, prompting Minister Mahadevappa to send his Personal Secretary Shobha to the protest venue to collect information.

Over 400 villagers had assembled at Hinkal today. Shobha spoke to villagers and told them that she would convey their concerns to the Minister. The villagers told her that the educational institutions that have obtained the land in question in their names had approached the Additional Civil Court by making false claims. "The Court issued Injunction orders in their favour as facts were not presented in the Court. No classes are being conducted here but the Court was misled," claimed Hinkal Prakash and Raju who spoke to the Minister's Secretary.

Villagers said that the land that has been allotted to the educational institutions comes under 'B Kharab' (government land) classification. "Apart from the Kalyani that has been restored due to our efforts, there is one more Kalyani that is buried inside the ground. Also, many Rajakaluves (underground natural drains) are present in this land. This is due to the negligence of MUDA officials and moreover the land that legitimately belongs to Hinkal village has been sanctioned to education institutions," Prakash told the Minister's Secretary.

Prakash alleged that in 2011-2012, the land (CA site 28, 29, 37 and 38) was sanctioned to the educational institutions by the then Karnataka CM D.V. Sadananda Gowda when BJP leader G. Madhusudhan was a MUDA member. "These educational institutions claim that they are running classes here. But in reality, there are no academic activities here and the Additional Civil Court has been misled," he alleged.

The case that is pending before the Additional Civil Court will come up for hearing tomorrow. Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj said that the case is coming up before the Court tomorrow and the MUDA will take a decision as per the Court orders. "We discussed the issue with villagers and they are not ready to compromise. We even approached the educational institutions and assured them of alternative CA sites. But they are not ready to leave this land. In such a situation, we will have to take a decision as per the Court orders," he said.

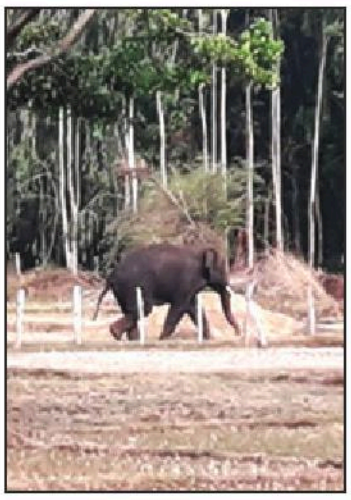
Man-animal conflict continues unabated in Kodagu

Six wild elephants were electrocuted near Siddapur in Kodagu during June last year in two separate incidents. Many more elephants died in Kodagu in 2017 due to electrocution, gunshot wounds and drowning. Tracing the causes behind these deaths reveal that all the elephants had ventured out of the forests in search of food. Dwindling forest cover and lack of green growth have forced pachyderms to enter the human habitat areas, sending shivers down the spine of farmers and coffee estate owners. This year too, there is no break in man-animal conflict in Kodagu as there is no respite from crop loss due to elephant menace and at the same time, elephants continue to die.

Herd creates panic at Kanive, Hebbale in Somwarpet

Kushalnagar, Mar. 16 (BCT)- A herd of wild elephants is creating panic in Kanive village near Hebbale in Somwarpet Taluk. Five elephants were spotted by the residents and the herd damaged paddy, chili, banana and other crops, said villagers.

The elephants have come from Chennenahalli forest area and were spotted inside the estate of Bharadwaj K. Anandathirtha at around 6 am yesterday. The elephants were later found on the banks of River Cauvery. Residents said that as the herd was spotted inside the estate they did not send their children to schools. Many office-goers too stayed away from work yesterday.



Villagers later alerted the Forest Department and officials attempted to chase them back into the forests. Seeing the advancing human team, the elephants turned towards Marur and damaged an Anganwadi building. Fortunately, as children did not attend classes, a tragedy was averted. The herd damaged vast acreage of chili crop.

The wild elephants later entered Halekote village and damaged jowar crop. By evening, the marauding elephants entered the forest area. Residents, however, say that the pachyderms would return as paddy, jowar and other crops are fully grown and are easily available for the elephants to feed on.

Three elephants found dead in South Kodagu

Ponnampet, Mar. 16 (BCT)- Three elephants, one a calf, were found dead at different places in Kodagu district on Thursday. The deaths took place at Bollera Gate near Choorikad under K. Badaga Gram Panchayat limits in South Kodagu and the pachyderms had strayed outside the woods in search of food. Coffee plants were damaged in many estates as the elephants entered the plantations.

A tusker, aged between 18 and 20, was found dead in a lake inside the coffee estate owned by Mukkatira Gappu Ganapathy at Choorikad village near Nalkeri. According to Forest Department officials, the tusker was part of a herd that had come close to the tank to drink water. "We suspect that the elephant slipped into the water body while playing, or was pushed into it by a stronger elephant. The tusker could not rejoin the herd because of the slippery bank. It drowned as water was found in its lungs and stomach. It had a ruptured heart also," said Deputy Conservator of Forests (Madikeri) Maria Christu Raja.

Mother and calf death

A 35-year-old female elephant along with its five-month-old calf died in an estate near Choorikad. Forest officials said that the mother elephant was feeding its calf when she collapsed on the calf. Unable to bear its mother's weight, the calf was suffocated to death.

The incident occurred near the estate of Machimada Raja Thimmaiah. Forest officials suspect that the mother elephant died of an injury inside the stomach and internal bleeding. "The wound could be from a gunshot. But it was not fresh, and there was pus formation. Some bullet marks were found on the mother elephant's body though the post-mortem did not find bullets," officials said. Hunsur wildlife division veterinarian Majeed Khan conducted the post-mortem.

The death could be owing to many factors, including dehydration and its weak condition, since it was lactating. It could have been suffering from dehydration from the summer heat and the continued dry spell in the region, officials added.

Thithimathi ACF Sripathi said that the post-mortem report has been sent to Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology in Hyderabad for forensic tests that will ascertain the exact cause of death.

Jumbo rescued from slush

Kushalnagar, Mar. 16 (BCT)- Forest Department officials were successful in rescuing an elephant that was stuck in slush at Rangasamudra near Kushalnagar in Kodagu district.

A herd of elephants from Meenukolli Reserve Forest had entered the estate of Parlakoti Jayaprakash on Wednesday evening. One of the elephants in the herd, a 35-year-old female, got trapped in the slush. When the estate owner went there, he saw the jumbo struggling to come out and informed the forest officials.

Initially, the Forest officials tried to pull the elephant from the slush with the help of a backhoe (JCB) but were unsuccessful as the panicked elephant fell back into the slush. Also the elephant was exhausted and it refused to move.

Later, a team of tamed elephants was brought from Dubare Elephant Camp and the elephant was pulled out from the slush. The elephant was later treated by a veterinarian. DFO Manjunath, Kushalnagar RFO Arun and mahouts of Dubare were present.

Sindhu sails into quarter-finals

Birmingham, Mar. 16- India's women's badminton star and Olympic games silver medalist P.V.Sindhu taking part in women's singles event in the All England Badminton Championship, entered quarter-finals with a hard-fought win over Thailand's Nitchaon Jindapol on Thursday.

The World No. 3 Indian recovered from a mid-way slump to overcome the Thai shuttler 21-13 13-21 21-18 in a match which lasted an hour and seven minutes.

With 2013 champion Ratchanok Inthanon crashing out in the opening round, the onus was on Jindapol to go deep in the tournament and she did produce some superb strokes but Sindhu was always a step ahead.

Coming into the contest, Sindhu had a 2-1 head-to-head record against Jindapol, who is enjoying a career-best rank of 11. The Indian kept the shuttle in play, pushing Jindapol to the corners and returning the shuttles with immaculate ease early on.

In the first game, the duo split the initial six points before Sindhu jumped to a 7-3 lead after winning a long rally. Sindhu played a brilliant backhand return to move to 8-3 and eventually entered the interval with another precise stroke at the back of the court.

After the breather, Sindhu moved to a 15-7 lead and kept piling on the misery on the Thai who kept hitting the net and wide to bleed points.

A body smash took Jindapol to double figures but she couldn't go far as Sindhu grabbed a massive game point advantage with a deceptive return at 20-13. Jindapol then hit long to hand the game to the Indian.

In the second game, Jindapol anticipated better and seemed more attacking in her approach and quickly opened up a 7-3 lead with a straight smash.

Sindhu hit wide and also miscued a backhand return. Jindapol used a reverse slice and dominated the rally next to zoom to a 11-3 advantage at the break.

Jindapol played an exceptional wristy deceptive return at the net and was all pumped up as she added more power in her strokes. Sindhu too looked to step up the pace of the rallies and narrowed the gap to 10-14.

Jindapol enjoyed a lucky net chord and Sindhu sent one long as the Thai shuttler lead 17-10 with another superb return.

Sindhu closed the gap to 13-17 with three straight points with some precise returns. A bad judgement and two successive wide shots from Sindhu gave Jindapol seven game points and she sealed it with a smash to roar back into the contest.

Jindapol moved to a 15-12 lead after Sindhu erred in her cross court return. The Thai unleashed a precise return to gain another point but she found the tape next.

Sindhu produced an onrushing return at the back and then unleashed a couple of roaring smashes to make it 16-16.

Both missed the line next as it was 18-18. Sindhu then pounced on a chance at the net to grab lead and then gained the match point when the Thai went to net. Jindapol netted again as Sindhu sighed a relief.

Religion row

Congress will pay a heavy price, Seers warn CM

Bengaluru, Mar. 16 (KMS& BCT)- A delegation of Veerashaiva Mutt pontiffs issued a stern warning to Chief Minister Siddharamaiah yesterday that the Congress would have to "face the wrath of society" if the proposal to grant 'religious minority' status on Lingayats is accepted.

Led by Seers representing the Kashi and Ujjini mutts — two of the five holy pantheons — about 50 pontiffs met Siddharamaiah at his home office 'Krishna' and gave him a petition. They urged the CM to recognise 'Veerashaiva-Lingayat' as a religion instead if at all the government intended to provide benefits to the community.

Meanwhile, Lingayat Seers have warned of launching a protest unless the Government sends a recommendation for independent religious status for the community to the Centre. Several Lingayat Seers met in Dharwad yesterday to counter their Veerashaiva counterparts, who met the CM to oppose an independent religious tag for their community.

"Instead of carrying out charity and activities to uplift society, it pains us that we have to undergo financial, physical and mental pain to protect the religion from being divided...the Congress will have to forever face protests by civil society, mutts, writers and jurists," the petition of Veerashaiva Seers stated.

After receiving the petition, Siddharamaiah told the Seers: "Let me make it clear that I'm not against your dharma."

An expert committee has recommended granting 'religious minority' status to Lingayats, which has widened the divide within the ruling Congress and the Cabinet is split with Veerashaiva and Lingayat Ministers locking horns.

When Siddharamaiah first mooted separate religion status last June, he wanted both Veerashaivas and Lingayats to come to an agreement. According to Dingaleshwar Swamy, however, there is agreement that Veerashaiva and Lingayat are the same. "There are 3,000 mutts in Karnataka, of which 2,950 are united against the proposal to grant religious minority status to Lingayats. Only 4-5 of the remaining 50 mutts are making noise."

The Lingayat Seers, however, have called the Veerashaiva seers as "hijack seers," and claimed they were not getting much support for the rallies they were holding to oppose the minority tag for Lingayats. "We will fight a legal battle with historical records to support our claim," they asserted.

Urging the government not to give in to pressure from a few Congress leaders and seers on the issue, they warned they would launch a protest if it did not take a decision on the matter at the Mar. 19 Cabinet meeting.

Pushpa Amarnath nominated AICC member

Mysuru, Mar.16 (NNN)- Former Mysuru Zilla Panchayat President Dr. Pushpa Amarnath has been nominated as a Member of the All India Congress Committee (AICC).

A Member of the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee and former General Secretary of State Women Congress Committee, she is a close relative of Hunsur MLA H.P. Manjunath.

Late Muktar Unnisa Begum was a member of AICC and after a long time, with the appointment of Dr. Pushpa Amarnath as the member, Mysuru region has the distinction of one more lady member in the Committee.

The other Members of the AICC from Mysuru region include Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, District In-Charge Minister Dr.H.C. Mahadevappa, MP R. Dhruvanarayan and MLC Rizwan Arshad.

Dr. Pushpa Amarnath

Speaking to Star of Mysore over phone from New Delhi, an elated Dr. Pushpa Amarnath said, "I feel proud of my party and President Rahul Gandhi who has given an opportunity to youngsters like me and nominated me as a Member. I also thank Chief Minister Siddharmaiah and KPCC President Dr. G. Parameshwar for giving me this opportunity without whose support I could not have been the Member."

Out of the 99 new members appointed in the new list to AICC, 22 are women. "There is also a policy now that only one member from a family will be given AICC membership. However, there will be an exception if already there is an MLA, MLC or a Minister, in that case one more member can be given the membership," she said.

Asked for the reason for being in Delhi, she said that there is likely to be a Plenary Session tomorrow which she will be attending. "I will be attending a meeting like this for the first time and it will be interesting to see what transpires and what our role will be to galvanise the party," she said.

Yeddyurappa takes legal precaution against corruption jibes

Bengaluru, Mar. 16- Former Chief Minister and BJP's CM candidate in the upcoming Assembly elections, B.S. Yeddyurappa, has taken legal recourse against the constant references made by Congress leaders about his court cases.

Yeddyurappa

Heckling Yeddyurappa by referring to his jail stint and corruption cases has become a favourite tool of Congress leaders, including Chief Minister Siddharamaiah to rile Yeddyurappa. This has happened online as well on public platforms. Yeddyurappa has now approached the High Court against various Congress leaders and also the media, which have reported these allegations.

In his petition, Yeddyurappa has urged the High Court to issue directions to restrain the media from publishing defamatory statements made by Congress leaders including CM Siddharamaiah with regard to cases already closed and the cases pending against him before the courts.

Hearing the petition, Justice G. Narendra ordered emergent notice to the Press Council of India and the regulatory body for TV broadcasters, but refused to pass any interim order. "After hearing the petition, this court is of the opinion that this case is appropriate to make PCI and the TV broadcasters' regulatory body as parties. Admittedly, there is a larger issue. Therefore, issue emergent notice to them", the Judge said before adjourning further hearing to March 23.

As the court refused to pass an interim order, senior Counsel C.V. Nagesh, representing Yeddyurappa, said at least the Court may pass an interim order as far as media is concerned, if not against private parties at this stage, as damages can be claimed from them if they issue defamatory statements, he said. The court observed that it is also not happy with the allegations.

To give breaking news at 5 pm

Meanwhile, Yeddyurappa has tweeted yesterday that he would give a "Breaking News" for the people of Karnataka at 5 pm on Mar. 16 (today). His tweet has given rise to a lot of speculation at a time when Karnataka will face elections in a month or two.

Cong. ticket aspirant showers garland of apples on DKS!

Mandya, Mar.16 (NNN)- The adage 'An apple a day keeps the doctor away' was taken so seriously by a supporter of Power Minister D.K. Shivakumar (DKS) that a weighty 300-kg apple garland greeted him when he visited Mandya yesterday.

In an attempt to please his boss and as an 'act of admiration', Srirangapatna constituency ticket aspirant Indavalu Sachidananda went to the extent of showering a garland of apples on the Minister using a crane.

DKS, who is also the State Election Campaign Committee Chief, visited the town to quell rebellion in the party.

How could Shivakumar bear the weight of the heavy garland?

Even as the crane tried to put the garland around his neck, the strings of the apples broke, and immediately there was a mad rush as people fell over one another to grab the apples.

The apple garland cost close to Rs.1.60 lakh, it is said.

It may be recalled, just last week, during former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy's visit to Mandya, Ravindra Srikantaiah's supporters had showered him with rose petals with the help of a crane.

In order to outdo their opponents, D.K. Shivakumar's supporters came up with the idea of an apple garland which had almost 2,500 apples, said the party insiders.

He was speaking after inaugurating a two-day seminar on 'Trends in Historiography of Ancient and Medieval Karnataka,' organised by the Department of Studies in History, University of Mysore, at the Rani Bahadur Auditorium here recently.

During that period, many kings and warriors have ruled and many have looted the kingdoms. Hence it is interesting to learn what impact their rule had on the people, he added.

This requires a lot of research and only through it can one understand history properly, he said.

Many important events have occurred which has influenced culture, civilisation, tradition, people's walk of life and all these have to be recorded and only then will the future generation understand the values and ethos of the past, he said and added that if this does not happen, then it would be lost to the coming generations.

WORD OF THE DAY

Paseo

Pronunciation: Pah-sey-oh (Noun)

Meaning: A slow, idle, or leisurely walk or stroll or a public place or path designed for walking.

Origin: The Spanish noun paseo "a stroll" is a derivative of the verb pasear "take a walk," itself a derivative of pasar "to come past, go past." Pasar comes from an assumed Vulgar Latin verb passāre "to pass, go on, extend," which is formed from Latin passus, the past participle of pandere "to unfold, extend, spread out." The Latin noun passus "a step, pace," also derived from pandere, is the ultimate source of pace, i.e., "a step," and the verb pass. Paseo entered English in the 19th century.

THE ODD WORD

Krummholz

A forest of stunted trees near the timber line on a mountain.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Know the ropes

Meaning: To understand how to do something. To be acquainted with all the methods required.

Origin: There is some doubt about the origin of this phrase. It may well have a nautical origin. Sailors had to learn which rope raised which sail and also had to learn a myriad of knots. There is also a suggestion that it comes from the world of the theatre, where ropes are used to raise scenery etc. The first citation comes in Richard H. Dana Jr's Two years before the mast, 1840: "The captain, who had been on the coast before and 'knew the ropes,' took the steering oar" That clearly has a seafaring connection, although it appears to be using the figurative meaning of the phrase, that is, 'the captain was knowledgeable', but without any specific allusion to ropes.

There are also early citations that come from the theatre. J. Timon, in Opera Goer, 1850 includes this: "The belle of two weeks standing, who has 'learned the ropes'." The nautical derivation seems more attractive and convincing, but the jury has to remain out on this one.
